Trail Notes or Comments:

Fueling Your Hike

Short, leisurely walks don't usually require any fuel besides water and your own two feet! But if you'll be hiking for longer than 45 minutes, you'll want to pack hydration & food choices that will support your activity. Below are some trail-worthy picks to get started!

- Water is a go-to hydrator! Freeze a bottle of water the day before your activity; it can be used as an ice pack and will be ready to drink later in the day! If you are planning a vigorous hike longer than 1 hour, then a sports drink might be appropriate.
- You'll want a mix of nutrients to keep you moving. Our nutritionists suggest these popular items that can give you energy and help you stay full:
 - Dried fruit
 - Applesauce pouch
 - Bananas, apples, snap peas, or baby carrots
 - Pouch tuna
 - Whole grain crackers
 - Nuts & seeds
 - Trail mix
 - Nut butter & jelly sandwich
